

WOODSONGS SongFarmer

SongFarmers “Cultivator”
Your newsletter for SongFarmers Chapter Leaders

February 2019

Howdy ALL of our SongFarmers Chapter Leaders, We are here to help you! Never hesitate to contact us, especially myself (jpbrake5@gmail.com) if you have any type of need for your chapter to be successful.

What are all the other Chapters doing? Is it beneficial to follow other Chapters on Social Media. SURE! You can find a list of all SongFarmer Chapters on the Web page - <http://www.songfarmers.org/chapters/>. If your Chapter is NOT listed please contact office@woodsongs.com to get your chapter listed. Now that you see the Chapters please consider joining EACH of their Facebook Pages. That way you will see what they are doing. And while you are in Facebook remember to POST your Chapters' happenings. Photos and Videos of your weekly and monthly gatherings are Great!

Also on that page is a link to the interactive map showing where the chapters are located all across the country. We update the map whenever a Chapter Completes the online questionnaire at - <https://4eyes.io/s/55C3O/>. If your chapter is new, or if you want to change some of the information on the link – PLEASE complete this survey. My wife Diana has volunteered to maintain this map, but we need you all to complete the questions. Thanks!

Our Chapter Highlight this month is SongFarmers of Valdosta, GA. SongFarmers of Valdosta GA, meets mostly on the 3rd Sat of each month from 4-6 pm at WAFT Radio Station, 215 WAFT Hill Lane, Valdosta, GA. The radio station has been so gracious to allow us to use their new air-conditioned/heated warehouse.

We play mainly bluegrass, gospel, and classic country, with some folk thrown in as well. Our chapter prides itself on encouraging children to play an instrument, and if they already play one, we love to have them join us at our gatherings. We also love to have spectators – the more the better! We're all about having fun!!

Perry Brake

SongFarmers of Tellico Plains, Tennessee

Remember to always be kind to each other and encourage beginners

Join the SongFarmers of America Facebook Group
All the information you need is also found at SongFarmers.org